APPEAL TO MEMBERS AND SUPPORTERS OF THE SAMRAINSY PARTY

The Sam Rainsy Party (SRP), formerly known as the Khmer Nation Party, is planning to construct a functioning and permanent Headquarters in Phnom Penh. Since its inception, SRP has been renting space as its temporary headquarters due to lack of financial means to own a building as its headquarters on its own.

Since 1995 SRP has grown to become the second largest political party in Cambodia, and we envision the Party continues to grow to lead the nation in the near future. It is time for SRP to build and own its headquarters to accommodate its growth, meet its need for a functioning and permanent headquarters, and address security concerns.

For the above reason, I am launching this appeal to all SRP members and supporters, who are the real owners of the Party. Your contribution to the construction of the headquarters signifies a crucial step in the development process of SRP.

The construction of the proposed headquarters is estimated to cost about $200,000 (two hundred thousand dollars).

If each member, each supporter and each branch of SRP throughout the world would contribute one brick or one stone for this building (or a section or a wall or an office room), like small creeks feeding into a larger river, then together we will build and complete this headquarters in 2010.

I appeal to your sense of responsibility and patriotism and to your generosity to send your generous contribution to a local SRP representative in your area.

On behalf of all our compatriots in Cambodia who place their hope on SRP, you have my utmost profound appreciation and gratitude.

In solidarity and with my very best wishes,

Sam Rainsy
